

UDS-PRO® Portal

The UDS-PRO® System offers an optional, Internet-based portal that allows your physicians and other authorized users to view and sign documents from any Internet-enabled device.

Benefits

- Direct access to the system from remote locations helps your facility ensure more timely admission decisions and comply with Medicare's rules and regulations.
- Admission coordinators, administrators, and similar personnel can access the system remotely to review the status of the documents in each patient record.
- All preadmission documents can be monitored for compliance with completion time frames and required signatures from physicians, admission screeners, and other staff members.
- The portal provides a streamlined view for your admitting physicians to review admission assessments as part of a simple, easy process.

Features

- The portal is compatible with all the latest browsers (Internet Explorer 11+, Google Chrome, Firefox, and Safari), allowing users to access the UDS-PROi® software remotely from multiple devices.

- Physicians can use their secure login credentials to access the system in real time in order to review, comment, and sign off on preadmission documents from any location.
- The portal's search functions allow users to quickly access an individual patient record or group of patients whose pending admission requires a signature.
- Each patient's record contains flags that identify documents that need to be signed.
- Once a physician uses the UDS-PRO® Portal to add admission decision comments and a signature, the portal adds the information to the patient's preadmission record in the UDS-PROi® software and removes the pending signature flags.
- The portal combines with the preadmission module's email notification feature to expedite physician review for timely admission decisions.
